Cette campagne a été un énorme succès dont on ne se lasse pas.

1. Quelle agence en est à l'origine ?
2. Quels sont, en anglais et dans l'ordre, les noms des personnages indiqués ?

(Exemple : Isabel of Monaco Lee Louissette Steve Marco Maria Mike)

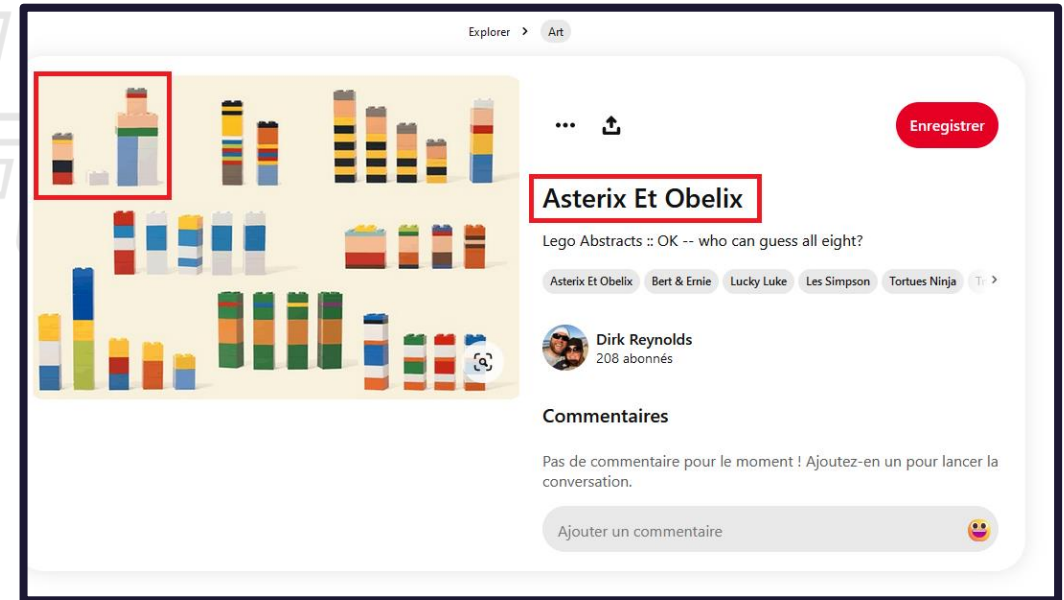

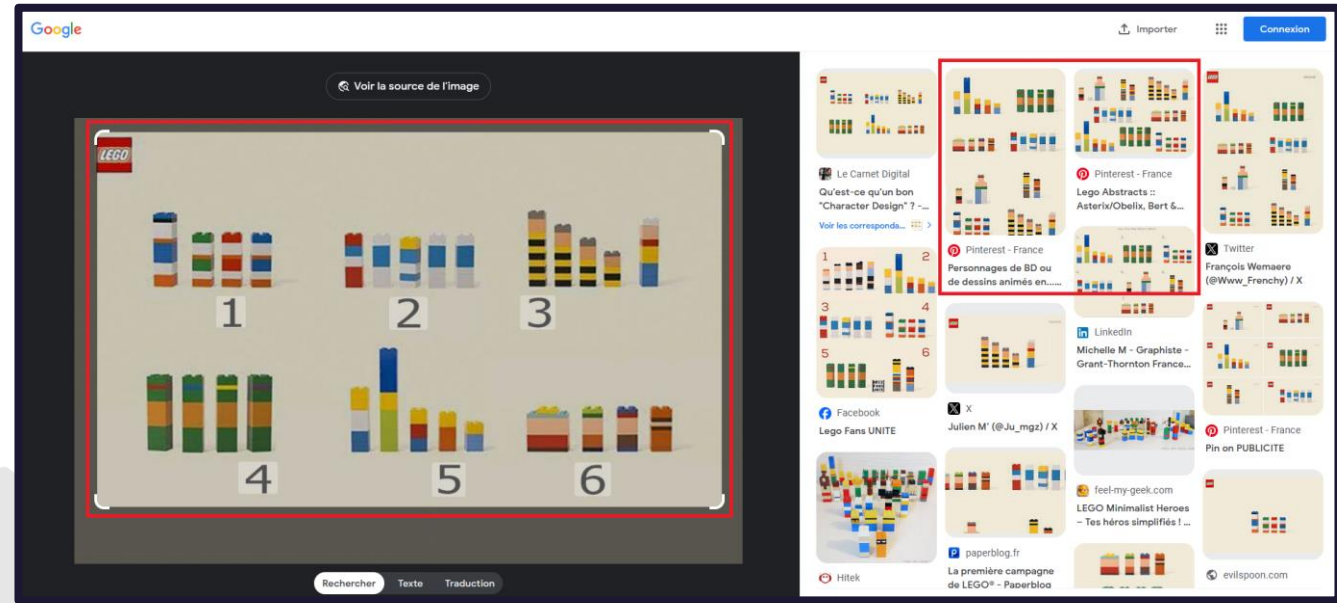

17 décembre - So fox

Une recherche Google avec Google Images nous montre que les blocs de Lego représentent des personnages de BD.

Dans cet exemple, on retrouve Astérix, Idéfix et Obélix. Manque de chance, ils ne font pas partie des personnages à retrouver.

On comprend alors que c'est une publicité minimaliste pour Lego.

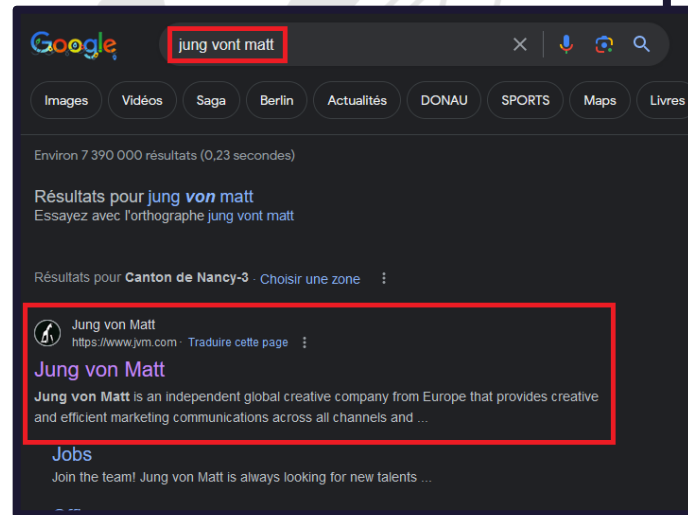

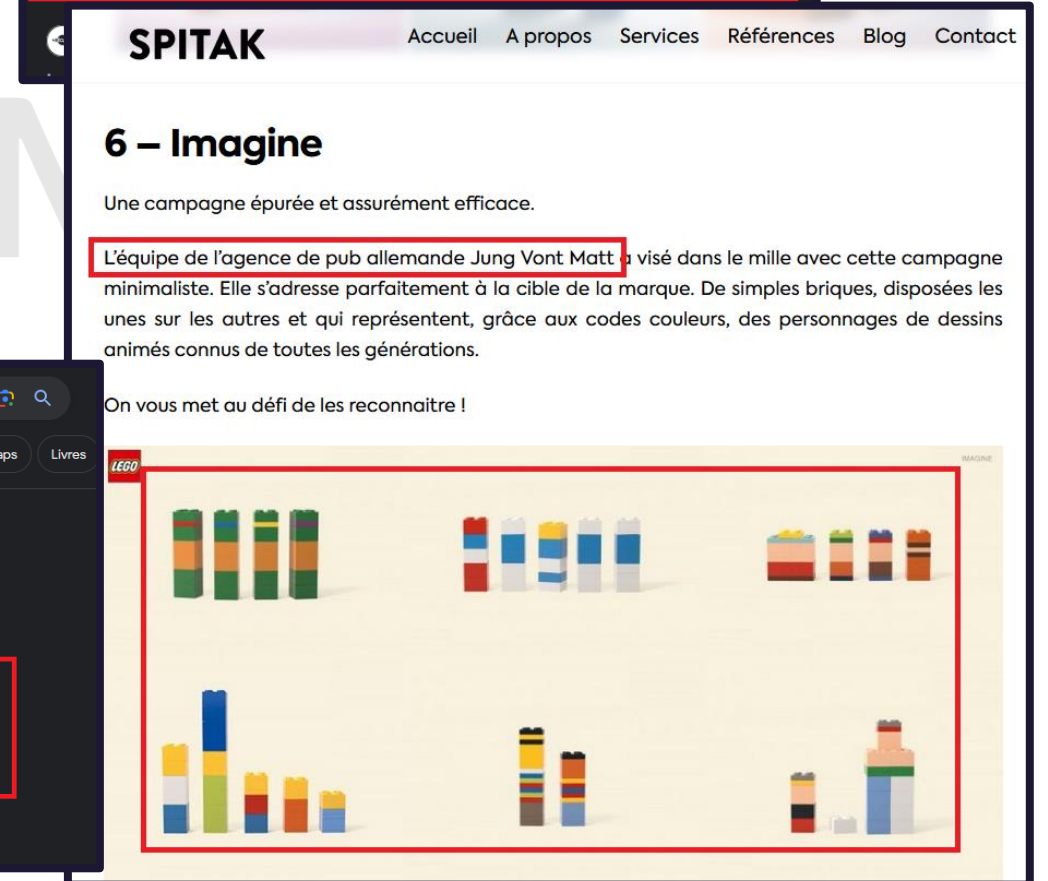

17 décembre - So fox

Nouvelle recherche Google, on retrouve rapidement l'agence de publicité créatrice : Jung von Matt.

La partie I du flag est :
Jung von Matt

Attention : Si le site Spitak nous donne le nom de l'agence de pub, celui-ci l'a mal orthographié. Il n'y a pas de "T" dans le mot "von" ! Pensez toujours à vérifier vos sources ;)

17 décembre - So fox

Pour la seconde partie, un problème se pose. Il y a beaucoup trop de personnages par rapport aux réponses du flag complet.

En effet, l'exemple du flag mentionne : Isabel of Monaco, Lee, Louissette, Steve, Marco, Maria, Mike. Si Isabel of Monaco nous indique que l'agence que l'on doit trouver est en trois mots, pour la suite, nous ne devons donner qu'un seul nom...

Sur l'image, il y a 6 familles. Dans l'exemple, il y a 6 réponses. Donc, il faut donner un nom par famille.

On remarque que le numéro n'est jamais bien centré sous la famille concernée, par contre, ils sont sous un personnage en particulier. Ce sont ceux-ci qu'il faut mentionner pour construire le flag.

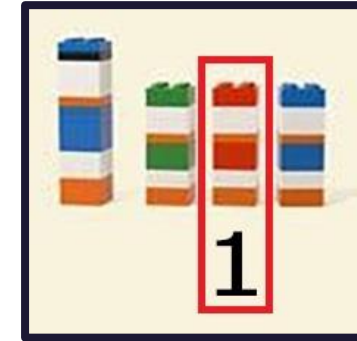

17 décembre - So fox

Si on ne reconnaît pas les différentes familles, on peut utiliser Google Images qui va faire le travail. Pour la première famille, on reconnaît Donald Duck et ses neveux, Riri, Fifi et Loulou.

Avec le site Wikipédia anglais, on les retrouve sous les noms de Louie, Huey et Dewey. L'image d'illustration nous montre que c'est Huey (Riri en français) que nous cherchons.

La partie 2 du flag est :

Huey, Dewey, and Louie are triplet cartoon characters created by storyboard artist (screenwriter) Carl Barks for The Walt Disney Company^[2] from an idea proposed by cartoonist Al Taliaferro and are the nephews of Donald Duck and the grand-nephews of Scrooge McDuck. Like their maternal uncles, the brothers are anthropomorphic white ducks with yellow-orange bills and feet. The boys are sometimes distinguished by the color of their shirts and baseball caps (with Huey wearing red, Dewey wearing blue, and Louie wearing green). They featured in many Donald Duck animated shorts and in the television show DuckTales and its reboot, but comics remain their primary medium.

While the boys were originally created as mischief-makers to provoke Donald's famous easily-triggered temper, later appearances, beginning especially in the comic books stories by Carl Barks, showed them growing to be heroes in their own right and valuable assets to him and Uncle Scrooge on their adventures. All three of the triplets are members of the fictional scouting organization of the Junior Woodchucks.

Origins [edit]

Joe, William, Jack and Averell Dalton, known together as The Daltons or the Dalton brothers, are fictional characters in the Lucky Luke Western comics series. Four brothers and outlaws acting as the most recurring enemies to protagonist Lucky Luke, they were created by artist Morris and writer René Goscinny. Loosely inspired by the real-life Dalton Gang active in the United States in early 1890s (who themselves appeared in the 1954 Lucky Luke story "Outlaws"), The Daltons first had a one-panel cameo appearance in the 1958 comic Lucky Luke versus Joss Jamon, before being prominently featured later that year in the comic The Dalton Cousins (named as such because the four are billed as the cousins of their real-life counterparts within the Lucky Luke universe).^[1]

While Morris depicted the real-life Dalton brothers as evil and successful, the fictional Daltons are dysfunctional, messy and less skillful. They are strictly identical except for height. Joe, the oldest and shortest brother, is the smartest and most cunning, while Averell, the youngest and tallest, is dumb and wholly incompetent; William and Jack, the middle brothers, have relatively colorless personalities and less dialogue than their other siblings. Their storylines often begin with the gang escaping from prison, followed by prison dog Rantanplan, and later Lucky Luke, as they try to carry out whatever plans Joe, or their mother Ma Dalton, has in mind; they are traditionally captured or back in jail by the end of the story.

The characters have appeared in a variety of adaptations, including the 1984 animated TV series, the 1991 film, and the 1992 TV series; they even acted as protagonists of several derived works, such as the 2004 film Les Dalton and the 2010-16 TV series The Daltons.^[2]

This article is about the franchise. For entries in the franchise, see Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles \(disambiguation\).

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, commonly abbreviated as TMNT, is an American media franchise created by the comic book artists Kevin Eastman and Peter Laird. It follows Leonardo, Donatello, Raphael and Michelangelo, four anthropomorphic turtle brothers trained in ninjutsu who fight evil in New York City. Supporting characters include the turtles' sensei, a rat called Splinter, their human friends April O'Neil and Casey Jones, and enemies such as Baxter Stockman, Krang, and their archenemy, the Shredder.

The franchise began as a comic book, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, which Eastman and Laird conceived as a parody of elements popular in superhero comics at the time. The first issue was published in 1984 by Eastman and Laird's company Mirage Studios and was a surprise success. In 1987, Eastman and Laird licensed the characters to Playmates Toys, which developed a line of Turtles action figures. About US$1.1 billion of Turtles toys were sold between 1988 and 1992, making them the third-best-selling toy figures ever at the time.

List of The Simpsons characters

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Along with the Simpson family, The Simpsons includes a large array of characters: co-workers, teachers, family friends, extended relatives, townspeople, local celebrities. The creators originally intended many of these characters as one-time jokesters or for fulfilling needed functions in the town. A number of them have gained expanded roles and subsequently starred in their own episodes. According to creator Matt Groening, the show adopted the concept of a large supporting cast from the Canadian sketch comedy show Second City Television.^[1]

The main episode characters, the Simpson family, are listed first; all other characters are listed in alphabetical order. Only main, supporting, and recurring characters are listed. For other recurring characters, see List of recurring The Simpsons characters.
